

La fille de printemps by RNST

Piece

- This street art was created for the Grenoble Street art Fest
- In 2017
- In the street François Raoult
- On a wall of a parking for cars

RNST

- The name of RNST is Ernest
- He was born in 1972
- He is French
- He grew up in Dijon
- He painted with stencil and poster

Description

- The graffiti shows us a teenage and rebel girl
- The image is in white and black but she wears green jacket, a pink scarf and 2 white flowers on her head
- She has a serious expression and we are able to see this through her face and crossed arms
- On the left there is a text: que se dressent les printemps révolutionnaires

Analyse

- We choose this image because the little girl is beautiful and cute
- The message is that the moments of the liberation of the people during the Arab spring
- It's a message of hope, the struggle continuous
- It represents the revolution in general
- The girl seems rebel and against the current system; in addition, the flowers she wears have a skull in the middle